

Second Nature Landscapes

Residential Landscape Design Process

Thank You for choosing Second Nature Landscapes and Landcurve Design for your landscape design needs. This is a brief overview of the landscape design process:

First: Our first On-site visit where we will discuss your project and get inspired with your ideas and our award winning enthusiasm and creativity for your new landscape. At this time, and with a second visit, we will take detailed measurements of your home, existing site, topography and existing vegetation. We will then email you an estimate of the cost for the design process, and any other engineering that may be required.

Second: We will prepare a base CAD plan, which we will use as a framework to put together 2 colored landscape concepts that detail our inspired design for your new landscape. Included in the primary concepts will be the Hard-Scape Design such as Architectural Concrete and Flagstone Dry Stack Walls. We will show Deck and Patio locations and Designs, Lawn Areas, and Bed Areas including Tree and Shrub Design. Your new landscape concepts will also show Architectural Features such as Steel Planting Boxes and Water Features. All of the features and ideas from our years of experience in landscape design along with your ideas for your new landscape will be illustrated including 3-D design technology.

Third: We will email the concepts to you for review, and schedule our next design meeting.

Fourth: The next step is to meet and review your new landscape design concepts to ensure our vision for your new landscape is ready for production of your final set of plans. We will help guide you throughout the review process to finalize all ideas for your finished plan. It usually takes about 2-4 weeks to complete this step.

Fifth: The final step will be a professional CAD generated blueprint of your final landscape plans. The blueprints are usually a set of three pages of plans meticulously laying out your new landscape design. Included in the final plans will be all final design and dimension including a plant call, along with any other construction drawings necessary to turn your landscape dreams into a reality!

The entire landscape design process from start to finish in most cases takes 4-5 weeks.

The cost to create these plans typically runs between $1,000.00 and $2,000.00 depending on project size and needs.

We are looking forward to turning your landscape dreams into a reality!
